Report on the Special Lecture: "William Shakespeare and Modern Literature"

On 23.09.2022, an insightful lecture titled “William Shakespeare and Modern Literature” was delivered by Proshanta Sarkar, Assistant Professor of English from Ghatal Rabindra Satabarshiki Mahavidyalaya, at Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II. The event, organized by the Department of English, was attended by students, faculty members, and literature enthusiasts eager to explore the enduring influence of William Shakespeare on contemporary literature.

The lecture commenced with a brief introduction of Proshanta Sarkar. Soumitra Gayen, Head of the Department of English at Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II, introduced the topic by highlighting Shakespeare’s significance not only in the context of his time but also in the continuing evolution of modern literary traditions.

Proshanta Sarkar began the lecture by establishing Shakespeare’s unparalleled contribution to the English language and literature. The professor emphasized that Shakespeare’s works have transcended time, remaining relevant and influential across centuries.

Proshanta Sarkar discussed how Shakespeare enriched the English language, coining over 1,700 words and countless phrases that are still in common use today. The professor provided examples like “break the ice,” “wild-goose chase,” and “heart of gold,” illustrating how these expressions have seamlessly integrated into modern vocabulary.

The lecture highlighted Shakespeare's innovation in character creation, with complex, psychologically nuanced figures such as Hamlet, Macbeth, and Lady Macbeth. Mr. Proshanta Sarkar explained how these characters laid the groundwork for modern character development in literature and drama, influencing writers like James Joyce, Virginia Woolf, and more.

Proshanta Sarkar explored the universal themes present in Shakespeare’s works—love, power, jealousy, betrayal, and the human condition. These themes, the professor argued, resonate strongly in modern literature, underscoring the timelessness of Shakespeare’s insights into human nature.

The lecture provided an in-depth analysis of how Shakespeare's works have shaped various literary genres. For instance, Proshanta Sarkar discussed the influence of Shakespeare's tragedies and comedies on contemporary theater, novels, and films. The professor cited examples such as 'West Side Story' as a retelling of 'Romeo and Juliet' and 'The Lion King' drawing inspiration from 'Hamlet'.

A significant portion of the lecture was dedicated to the myriad adaptations of Shakespeare's plays in modern literature, film, and theater. Proshanta Sarkar discussed how Shakespeare's narratives have been reimagined in different cultural contexts, making his works accessible and relevant to diverse audiences worldwide.

The professor concluded by discussing the role of Shakespeare in education and culture. Proshanta Sarkar emphasized that studying Shakespeare is crucial for understanding the foundations of English literature and appreciating the complexities of the human experience. The lecture also touched upon how Shakespeare's works continue to inspire not only writers but also musicians, filmmakers, and artists.

Following the lecture, an interactive session was held where students and faculty members posed questions to Proshanta Sarkar. The discussion ranged from the challenges of translating Shakespeare for modern audiences to the relevance of his work in today's globalized world. Proshanta Sarkar provided thoughtful responses, encouraging students to explore Shakespeare's works beyond their academic requirements and appreciate their broader cultural significance.

The lecture concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Soumya Kanti Mandal, who praised Proshanta Sarkar for the enlightening presentation. The attendees left with a deeper understanding of Shakespeare's monumental influence on modern literature and a renewed interest in exploring his works.

Overall, the lecture on "William Shakespeare and Modern Literature" was a resounding success, offering valuable insights into the timeless relevance of Shakespeare's contributions to the literary world.

The event, organized by the Department of Physics, was attended by students, faculty members, and literature enthusiasts eager to explore the enduring influence of basic knowledge of current electricity for daily life and its utility.

Dr. Amit Kumar Bhunia, Head of the Department of Physics at Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II, introduced the topic by highlighting knowledge of current electricity and electrical energy for daily life.

Dr. Sanhita Paul began the lecture with simple experimental demonstration of the Ohms law in current electricity. She discussed how electrical energy is important in our daily living process. The energy and electricity is so important that with out it, the life becomes risky. She highlighted about the differences of ac and dc current, different measured instruments for current and voltages. She also discusses about the process of energy savings and real utilization of current electricity.

The lecture concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Kousik Mukherjee, who praised Dr. Sanhita Paul for the enlightening presentation. The attendees left with a deeper understanding of current electricity for daily life .

Department of Zoology, Govt. General Degree College, Mohanpur.

Department: Zoology

Date: 17.11.2022

Venue: R.N. Tagore hall

Special lecture had been arranged by the Department of Zoology for the interested students from Zoology and other disciplines of Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II on 17.11.2022. Dr. Ayan Mondal, Assistant Professor in Zoology of Government General Degree College, Mohanpur had delivered lecture on "Basics of animal taxonomy". 11 student participants attended the programme and learnt various aspects of animal taxonomy. This topic is crucial in order to identify and naming of the fauna of the environment. The diversity among the animals overwhelmed the students and make them sensible and responsible for conserving the animal resources. Without proper understanding about the animals and their ecology and biology it is hard to take any measure of conservation. The feedback from the students was satisfactory.

Report on the Special Lecture: “Basic Concept of space science”

On 17.09.2022, an insightful lecture titled “Basic Concept of space science” was delivered by Dr. Abdulla Al Mamon, Assistant Professor of Physics from Vivekananda Satavarshiki Mahavidyalaya, at Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II. The event, organized by the Department of Physics, was attended by students, faculty members, and literature enthusiasts eager to explore the enduring influence of basic knowledge of space science and how it triggered the human civilization and modern life.

Dr. Amit Kumar Bhunia, Head of the Department of Physics at Government General Degree College, Gopiballavpur-II, introduced the topic by highlighting knowledge of space science and recent activities of ISRO and NASA on space science.

Dr. Abdulla Al Mamon began the lecture with highlighting basic mechanics and theory of physics. He discussed how physics law and concept of mechanics influences space research. A student need to understand the concept physics laws Kepler’s Law, Newton’s law before understanding space research. He also discusses about the current scenarios of the space research in India and abroad. He discussed, how this research creates opportunity of jobs and future of mankind along with modification of the communication and satellites.

The lecture concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Kaustabh Dan, who praised Dr. Abdulla Al Mamon for the enlightening presentation. The attendees left with a deeper understanding of space science for the future existence of the mankind.

(Faculty Exchange Program under MOU)

Department of Mathematics

Date: 16/12/2022

Venue: R.N. Tagore hall

The Department of Mathematics organized the special lecture of the above mentioned topic. The special lecture was started at 10 am in our college. The respected O.I.C gave the welcome speech. Then honorable I.Q.A.C coordinator Professor Rajkumar Sir spoke about the importance of the Faculty Exchange Program under MOU. The Head of the Mathematics department Dr. Sharmila Saren described the name and designation of the resource person and requested him to start the special lecture.

Resource person respected sir Dr. Kartik Patra started his lecture from 11:45 am. He explained the basic concept of set theory with real life examples. As a result, the students were very motivated. He also discussed the set theory with Venn Diagrams. Various kinds of operations on set theory were explained by him. He explained the De Morgan’s Laws beautifully. He also discussed some problems on set theory. Various other aspects of Set theory were explained in simple manner. Students also interacted with the resource person posing many queries.

Few students gave their feedback about the special lecture. The special lecture ended with Vote of Thanks proposed by Dr. Sharmila Saren (H.O.D., Department of Mathematics).
